

Free evangelism kits available to pastors

ALPHARETTA, Ga. (BP) – Southern Baptists' North American Mission Board (NAMB) announced July 28 that pastors can now get its evangelism kits for free.

Four kits, which include resources designed to help pastors equip their congregations in the area of evangelism, are available now and can be ordered online.

The first copy of each of the resources is available to pastors completely free, including shipping and handling, at namb.net/evangelism. Standard pricing and shipping rates apply to additional copies.

The resources by title are: Who's Your One; 3 Circles; The Best News; and Live This.

"We know pastors are working hard to share the Gospel and equip their members to proclaim Christ effectively to their local communities," said Johnny Hunt, NAMB senior vice president of evangelism and leadership. "We want to help them continue to do that, especially during this time when the pandemic has, perhaps, required some to cut back in their budgets."

Each kit is designed to equip believers with knowledge and tools they need to share the Gospel with friends, family, and others in their community who need the eternal hope provided by the Gospel.

"Everything we do at NAMB is about the Gospel," said NAMB president Kevin Ezell. "This is a trying season in North America with so much tension and anxiety. Only the Gospel can give eternal hope. Our desire is to equip pastors and churches to share that hope."
