

Mississippi abortion clinic closed for good

JACKSON, Miss. (Special) – The last abortion clinic in Mississippi has packed up and is moving on after being shuttered by a trigger law that went into effect after the U.S. Supreme Court on June 24 reversed its controversial 1973 decision that legalized abortion in the U.S.

Derzis

Di
an
e De
rz
is
,
ow
ne
r
of
th
e
no w-
de
fu
nc
t Ja ck
so n Wo
me
n'

s He
al
th
Or
ga ni
za
ti
on
,
to ld
As
so
ci
at ed
Pr
es
s Ju ly 18
th
e
bu
il
di
ng
th
at
ho
us ed
th
e

cl
in ic
on
No
rt
h St
at
e
St
re
et in Ja
ck
so
n
ha s
be en
cl
ea
re
d ou t
an d
so ld
.

She had previously warned if Mississippi's 2007 trigger law ever went into effect she would move the clinic to New Mexico, one of the states not expected to take any action to forbid abortions after the Supreme Court ruling.

The clinic was the focal point of Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization

Highway 49 in Richland

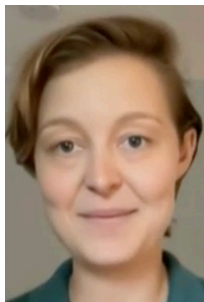

*ti
on
,
th
e Mi ss
is
sip
pi
ca se
th at
th
e Su
pr
em
e
Co
ur
t
us
ed
to
ov er ru le
Ro
e
v.
Wa
de
,*

th
e 19 73
ca se
th
at
le
ga
li
ze
d ab
or
ti
on na
ti
on wi
de
. Do
bb
s,
th
e
St
at
e
He
al
th
Of
fi
ce

r
at
th
e Mi
ss
is
si
pp
i
De
pa rt
me nt
of
He
al
th
,
re
ce
nt
ly
an
no
un
ce
d
hi s
re
ti
re
me
nt
.

In the wake of the clinic closing, billboard appeals have sprung up around Mississippi announcing that women considering abortion still have a “choice.”

Olivia Raisner, co-founder of Mayday Health, which bills itself as a health education nonprofit, told WLBT-TV in Jackson, “...you can ban abortion clinics but you can’t ban information, and that’s where Mayday comes in.”

Raisner

A
se
ar ch
fo r
th
e
he ad
qu
ar
te rs
lo
ca
ti
on
of Ma
yd
ay
He
al
th
wa
s un

su
cc
es
sf ul
. Th
e
gr
ou
p
ad
vo
ca
te
s
me
di
ca
ti
on
ab
or
ti
on
, wh
ic
h
re
qu
ir
es
a
pr
eg
na

nt
wo
ma
n
to
in ge
st
pi
ll
s
co
nt
ai
ni
ng
to
xi
c ch
em
ic
al
s
th
at
ki ll
an d
ex
pe
l
th
e
de
ve

lo
pi
ng
ba by
fr om
th
e
mo
th
er
's
wo
mb
. Th
e
pr
oc
es
s
is
of
te
n
de
sc
ri
be
d
as
an
"a
t-
ho
me

ab
or
ti
on
.”

The group advises women on how to get around state-by-state laws that prohibit medication abortions.